Organizations of all sizes are grappling with the need for more cybersecurity skills and resources in a labor market that can’t deliver. The result—security teams that are understaffed and overburdened. With CBI’s Strategic Staffing Services, you can quickly fill organizational gaps and improve the efficiency of your security operations.

Our team of industry-leading architects, engineers and analysts support cybersecurity needs across every major discipline and technology, ranging from short-term projects to long-term assignments. We work alongside your current staff to enhance your overall security posture at a fraction of the cost of traditional augmentation. It’s your team, only better.

SECURITY OVERLAY
Free up your in-house security team to focus on core competencies and gain skilled support to help ensure that routine, essential security tasks are completed. We use a team-based approach to leverage CBI’s training, partnerships and resources to provide quick and measurable results. We assist with a wide range of security needs to bolster your general security operations.

TECHNOLOGY OPTIMIZATION
Optimize and enhance the business value of your security technology investments with help from our deep bench of cybersecurity experts. Our team has decades of experience and can implement, configure and manage your security products using industry best practices and current standards. We also train your staff in current technologies to offset skill gaps. Our services can maximize your return on investment and ensure peak performance from your security technologies.

INCIDENT & EVENT MANAGEMENT
SIEM, SOAR and XDR are vital components in a strong cybersecurity posture but often need manual processes and deep analytics to gain optimal awareness. Our experts can implement and fine-tune security frameworks to your specific environment by verifying that logs are parsed correctly, rules are appropriately configured, and alert thresholds are set properly. We can also help you improve the analysis and interpretation of your security data to shorten your threat detection and response times.

ACTIVE DIRECTORY SECURITY PROVISIONING
Active Directory (AD) drives productivity and user access, but the administration and maintenance needed to keep your organization safe and compliant can be time-consuming and tedious. Our services are delivered by professionals who act as an extension of your team to provide the administration skills needed to grant your employees secure access and the cybersecurity expertise necessary to help reduce the overall risk of a security breach.

THREAT & VULNERABILITY MANAGEMENT
The volume of alerts that security teams need to monitor, filter, and act on can prevent organizations from properly recognizing and responding to exploited vulnerabilities and high-risk emerging threats. CBI’s team identifies critical assets, creates customized vulnerability assessment plans, and assists with detecting, prioritizing, and remediating vulnerabilities that pose the greatest threat to your organization.

VIRTUAL CISO
Many organizations need cybersecurity leadership but aren’t ready to bear the expense of a full-time Chief Information Security Officer (CISO). With CBI, you have access to top-tier expertise at a fraction of the cost. Our experts bring their previous CISO experience to work alongside your stakeholders and build actionable cybersecurity roadmaps designed to drive measurable improvements in your security posture.
